Computer_CD_15x15_2008-10-09

B.B. Huria

Across

1 Also called Autochanger (7)

5 Unlike tray loading drive, ____ based drives are usually more expensive, but with these drives each CD could be kept in it's own ____ instead of it's 'jewel' case (5)

6 That's what the letter 'W' in 'CD-WO' stands for (5)

9 A data compression standard widely used for compressing motion video data (4)

10 A compact disc on which you can write only once and thereafter is read-only memory (2-1)

11 Digital audio format stored in binary form on a small cassette (3)

12 Organic dye sandwiched between the polycarbonate substrate and the metalized reflective layer of the media (4,5)

14 Read-only memory (3)

16 It describes the type of data communication method between peripherals and computers (9)

19 ATAPI stands for AT Attachment ____ Interface (6)

22 One of the two most prevalent Internet standard protocols for e-mail retrieval, the other being POP3 (4)

23 ____ Moulding is a manufacturing method where molten material is forced into a mould so the material takes on the shape mould (9)

24 The raw digital error rate before any error correction (4)

25 The multi-session

Down

2 The maximum number of the raw digital error rate before any error correction allowed on a disk (7)

3 .___ files are used as device drivers (3)

4 Time taken to move the head mechanism to the data area on the CD-ROM disk (4,4)

5 That's what he letter'C' in 'CD' stands for (7)

7 The Compact Digital Audio Standard introduced in 1980 (3,4)

8 Small container, which can hold upto six CD-ROM discs (8)

13 The metal layer on top of the dye that reflects the laser beam back to the reading assembly (10)

15 The data-bearing removable "die" used during the injection moulding of a CD to imprint pits and lands into the polycarbonate substrate of the disc (7)

17 That's what the first letter 'E' in 'EIDE' stands for (8)

18 Organic dye originally used to form the data layer in CD-R discs (7)

20 SCSI stands for ____ Computer System Interface (5)

21 A language that supports and encourages functional programming (5)

disk is also known as a "____ Disk" (6)