

Computer_text_editing_15x15_2008-10-10

B.B. Huria

Across

- 1 It describes a base16 number system (11)
- 6 A complete set of type of one size and face, and usually refers to the entire family of letters of a particular shape or design (4)
- 7 A setting that you make in the program to remember your place in a file before moving to another location in the file (8)
- 9 Binary digit (3)
- 11 The ~ character on your keyboard, usually generated by pressing SHIFT+' (5)
- 12 A strip of icons which do things when they are pressed (7)
- 14 When one copy of a program is running, it is called a single ____ of it. Some programs can have two or more copies of the program running at the same time thus, "multiple ____s". (8)
- 15 A short high tone produced as a signal or warning (4)
- 18 The process to translate a program written in a human readable programming language into a set of instructions readable by a computer (7)
- 19 "[]" are called square brackets (6)
- 20 It is the code the author uses to tell browsers how to display text or images for the most part (3)
- 22 HTML uses what is called "____" in the documents (4)
- 23 This is a "slang" word commonly used to refer to a tiny bug or malfunction in a program's operation (6)

(5)

arrangement of words in sentences (6)

- 27 It is a method of translating data, to access it faster, to encrypt it, or to make it easier to incorporate into some constraints (4)
- 29 Files with this extension can work with Personal Web Servers (PWS), like a mini ISP which can be used on home computers and act similar to a regular ISP (3)
- 30 Acronym for Extensible Markup Language (3)
- 31 Another character set like ASCII, except whereas ASCII is a 7bit code, ____ is an 8bit code, which defines 256 characters (6)

- 4 A complete path in Windows to a file that shows the entire location of the file (8,4)
- 5 Another character set very similar to though not identical to ASCII (4)
- 7 Abbreviation for binary term (4)
- 8 Second stage of testing of a software (4)
- 9 These are marks used in pairs to enclose words like parenthesis (8)
- 10 Pressing this key facilitates tabulation (3)
- 13 Locate and correct errors in a computer program code (5)
- 16 An automated program such as a search engine, indexing program, or cataloging software, that requests Web pages much faster than human beings can (5)
- 17 This is what "P" stands for in "API" (7)
- 19 The grammatical

- 21 An interface that uses windows, icons, pulldown menus, pictures, etc. (3)
- 24 A company that offers dialup or direct connection from your computer to the Internet (3)
- 25 This is what "C" stands for in "ASCII" (4)
- 26 A commonly used term that is used for an address that tells browsers where to go to on the Internet like web pages that you visit (3)
- 28 Special instructions embedded in HTML documents, which instruct the server to replace it with special information before sending the page to the client (3)

Down

- 2 A programming language for searching and modifying text files (3)
- 3 Name of the character "^" which is found on the number 6 key on your keyboard, Shift+6