

Nursing_xbook9_15x15_024

B.B. Huria

Across

- 1 A chemical substance derivable from a mould or bacterium that kills microorganisms and cures infections. (10)
- 3 A dull persistent (usually moderately intense) pain. (4)
- 6 The act of treating with medicines or remedies. (10)
- 9 A cause of great suffering and distress. (10)
- 12 The stock of basic facilities and capital equipment needed for the functioning of an establishment. (14)

- 15 A development that complicates a situation. (12)
- 17 Of or relating to or affecting or for use in the mouth. (4)
- 18 The psychological state of being irritated or annoyed. (10)
- 19 Taxonomic group containing one or more species. (5)

Down

- 2 An infection that is acquired at a hospital or other healthcare facility. (5,9)
- 4 Wetness in the atmosphere. (8)

- 5 A reeling sensation; feeling about to fall. (9)
- 6 Any event that changes genetic structure. (8)
- 7 Condition in which there is a disturbance of normal functioning. (8)
- 8 Solid excretory product evacuated from the bowels. (6)
- 10 A disease caused by nematodes in the blood or tissues of the body causing blockage of lymphatic vessels. (10)
- 11 Any of a class of aromatic yellow compounds including several that are biologically important as coenzymes or acceptors or vitamins; used in making dyes. (7)

- 13 The longest and thickest bone of the human skeleton; extends from the pelvis to the knee. (6)
- 14 The basic structural and functional units of all organisms. (5)
- 15 An irrecoverable state of devastation and destruction. (4)
- 16 A sudden uncontrollable attack. (4)