

Botany_15x15_2006-08-17

B.B. Huria

Across

- 1 Having a life cycle lasting two seasons. (8)
- 3 Of or relating to the axil. (4)
- 5 Capable of fertilizing female organs. (9)
- 8 Divided into two lobes. (5)
- 9 The inner part of a tree's bark that delivers water and other nutrients. (6)
- 11 Completing its life cycle within a year. (3-4)
- 13 Of or relating to a plant that affords shelter or food to ants that live in symbiotic relations with it. (13)

- 16 Any plant of the genus Cannabis; a coarse bushy annual with palmate leaves and clusters of small green flowers; yields tough fibers and narcotic drugs. (4)
- 17 Resembling a lattice in structure or appearance. (9)
- 18 A long cluster of flowers attached directly to a stem, with the newest flowers at the tip. (5)
- 19 An isolated thickening of tissue, especially a stiff protuberance on the lip of an orchid. (6)

Down

- 1 Pertaining to or characteristic of fungi of the class Basidiomycetes. (15)
- 2 Having no carpels. (10)
- 3 Of or relating to or resembling an axis of rotation. (5)
- 4 Relating to or attached to the axis. (5)
- 6 Green plants that can make complex organic nutritive compounds from simple inorganic sources by photosynthesis. (11)

- 7 Having a capacity for continuing to grow at the apex. (13)
- 10 Having pistils and stamens in the same flower. (11)
- 12 Of leaves or flowers; developing or opening in succession from base to apex. (9)
- 14 Especially of plant parts; cylindrical and tapering. (6)
- 15 Outer bark of the cork oak. (4)